

BBC Learning English

Grammar Challenge

So and Such bbclearningenglish.com

---

Backs-to-the-board TEACHER'S NOTES

Have the students work in small groups (ideally groups of three). Each group should choose one 'volunteer', who should sit with his / her back to the board. When the volunteer is in position, write the following sentence on the board:

1. The ice-cream was so good that I ordered a second bowl.

Each group has to communicate this sentence to their volunteer without using any of the content words. The first volunteer to repeat the sentence to the teacher using the same precise wording scores one point for their team.

When the first sentence has been repeated, change volunteers and repeat the process with the following sentences:

2. It was such good coffee that I drank three cups.
3. It's such a great restaurant that I'll definitely go again.